

Kalei Grant was a newly divorced military spouse living in Hawaii with her young daughter. She had a college degree, a good job, and several friends. After some time, she started dating a man she met at a local bar. He was kind and gracious for the first few weeks, but things quickly changed when he had enough information on Kalei to trap her in a world of human trafficking...

#SurvivorStory #RejuvenatingWomen
#HumanTrafficking

Oree Freeman was raised by a single mother in Orange County, California. Although her mother tried to give Oree a happy life, the area around Oree's home was surrounded by gang violence. Beginning at 8, Oree was molested by men close to her several times. Although the cases were reported, every time, they were eventually thrown out for lack of evidence...

#SurvivorStory #RejuvenatingWomen
#HumanTrafficking

Colleen Stratton's sexual abuse began when she was just five years old. At seven, she began cutting herself to try and take the pain away, and at eleven, she started abusing drugs and alcohol. When Colleen was twenty, her parents sent her to a treatment center in Florida. Instead of going to the facility, she ended up living on the beach or with anyone who would give her shelter and feed her addiction...

#SurvivorStory #RejuvenatingWomen
#HumanTrafficking